

HYPNOSIS SHOWS

Hypnotists are quickly becoming one of the most popular forms of entertainment offered by corporations nationwide. Each performance is fast moving, tastefully done and guaranteed to be enjoyed by all. A corporate hypnosis performance is always designed around the company, its products and/or services, event theme if applicable and audience make up. Each performance is custom-designed to meet the needs of the group.

Once your date is booked, Swinging Watch Entertainment contacts the venue and discusses all physical / technical arrangements. The hypnotist communicates with the contact person within the company to research the company, audience and other details pertinent to the event, and then designs a performance within the scope of the information reviewed. Prior to the event, the hypnotist will phone the company contact person to discuss, in detail, what the performance content will be and lets them make revisions if needed the date of the event. The hypnotist will then arrive at least an hour prior to the event to make sure all technical needs are attended to. (Swinging Watch Entertainment can provide a sound technician at no additional cost to ensure a quality program.)

NO ONE is embarrassed or asked to be involved in an activity that will degrade him/her in any way. In almost all cases, the volunteers would eagerly agree to participate in a similar activity in the future.

The average show is made up routines plus post hypnotic suggestions. Self-help suggestions are to assist the participants in breaking bad habits, sleep better, increase positive attitudes, personal focus, sports enhancement and a variety of other suggestions to assist people in all areas of life. Fun suggestions are also included where people will respond to a word after coming out of hypnosis. At the end of the show, all suggestions are removed from the subjects and they are recognized as the true stars of the show.
